Protection Promised U. S. Citizens In China; New Treaty Urged With China

COOLIDGE TELLS AMERICANS TO STAY IN CHINA

Protection of Life and Property Promised by Chief Executive

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—President Coolidge today told Americans to stay where they are in China, if they wish, and that the United States will protect them and their property.

The President can see no reason why citizens of this country should be forced to give up their homes and lawful interests in the Far East, it was stated at the White House.

While this policy was being announced by the presidential spokesman, 1200 marines received orders to sail from San Diego to Guam, with China as the next stop. The transport Chaumont is standing by and will sail shortly, it was said.

This stand on the part of the President, officials declared, brought the United States into a practical agreement with Great Britain.

In view of the statement of Senator W. E. Borah, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, urging that all Americans leave China at once, it was said to be of far-reaching consequence.

CLERGY NOT TO LEAVE MEXICO

By GEORGE W. HINMAN, Jr.
(By Universal Service)
MEXICO CITY, Jan. 28.—Roman Catholic clergy from Archbishop Meza Y. Del Rio to the most obscure priest will remain in Mexico administering to the spiritual needs of the people until they are forcibly expelled.

This emphatic statement was made to Universal Service by the archbishop himself as he commented vigorously upon the recurrent and apparently inspired accounts appearing in the Mexico City papers alleging that certain clerics are planning to "voluntarily" leave the republic and take up their residences in the United States and elsewhere.

The correspondent was received at the residence of the archbishop who made it plain that neither he nor his associates had the slightest intention of "voluntarily" abandoning the republic.

Chinese Trying To Bring About Intervention Is Shanghai Bruit

Communists are Reported To Be Getting Out Of Control

(By Universal Service)
SHANGHAI, Jan. 28.—Reports from Canton today said the Chinese are deliberately trying to provoke an incident involving foreigners. The Cantonese government is making every effort to preserve order, but the Communists are getting completely out of hand.

This new element of danger is being added to the already tense situation here.

The Cantonese army is making a strong effort to capture Hangchow and thus clear the way for an advance on Shanghai. The main Cantonese army is 100 miles from Hangchow but advanced guards have reached Chuchow and are only twenty miles from the opposing forces.

Sun Chuan-fang's army is in good condition and is believed to be safe for two weeks at least. Another contingent of Hunan troops, 240 strong, arrived today to reinforce the British force, which reached here yesterday.

Fifteen American missionaries and their families arrived today from Chungking. They said the cities on the upper Yangtze river are tranquil and that the American consul's order for them to leave came like a bolt from a clear sky.

The financial position of the Cantonese government at Hankow is becoming increasingly difficult, because of the approach of the Chinese New Year, prior to which Chinese custom demands that all financial obligations must be settled.

Kensington School Dedicated With Appropriate Ceremonies Under Direction Of P. T. A.

The newest link in Richmond's chain of excellent schools was added last night when the Kensington school, near El Cerrito, was formally dedicated with appropriate ceremonies.

The exercises were under the direct auspices of the Kensington Parent-Teachers' association and the principal speaker of the evening was Professor J. H. Hildebrand of the University of California, who told of the functioning of the elementary schools.

City Superintendent of Schools, Walter T. Helms, was a speaker on the program and he presented the school to the residents of the Kensington district.

In his dedication speech he told of the work of the school board and the efforts made to give Richmond's children the best schools in the state. He complimented the residents of the district on their interest shown and declared that there is a bright future ahead for the school.

M. R. Paroe, of Kensington made the response and in turn he paid high compliments to the work of the school board.

Lookout Mountain Relief Corps No. 35 of Berkeley, presented a flag to the school and Glenn Cooper, one of the students, made the response.

A flag was also presented by the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of Richmond and Helms read the letter accompanying the presentation.

America was sung by the audience, led by Mrs. Maude Hamilton and Mrs. C. G. Lisch.

The musical program consisted of solos by Mrs. Hamilton, accompanied by Mrs. Lisch; piano solo by Miss Ruth Larkin and a

HOUSE URGES NEW TREATY WITH CHINA

Independent Course Of Action Urged For This Nation

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Secretary of State Kellogg was urged to make a direct offer to China on behalf of the United States to make new treaties removing existing injustices, by the House of Foreign Affairs committee in a report to the House today.

The secretary's recent statement of policy toward China was approved by the committee, but action to carry it out was requested.

Passage by congress of the Porter resolutions, urging an independent course of action by the United States in its treaty dealings with China, was recommended by the committee.

Replying to the secretary's assertion that this government finds it difficult to negotiate with a Chinese representative of the entire nation, the committee report expressed the opinion that all China is united in its foreign affairs, even though there is internal strife.

After quoting Secretary Kellogg to the effect that the administration is ready to negotiate with China in concert with other nations or alone on the question of removing extra territorial rights and customs control, the report said:

"This statement clears the way for the opening of negotiations between the United States and China on the matters in controversy by the transmission of a message to China through the Chinese minister to the United States, Dr. Sad-Ko Alfred Sze, requesting the appointment of delegates representing the authorities of the people of the country (China)."

Invocation was pronounced by Rev. Lawrence Cross.

Following the program an exhibit of the books purchased for the library of the school was made and refreshments were served by the members of the P. T. A.

The committees in charge of the affair included the following: Dedication committee, Mrs. S. Wales, Miss Utter, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Lisch and Mrs. Beach.

Publicity and invitations, Miss McClure.

Music program, Mrs. Lisch.

Reception committee, Miss Christol, Miss Hennessey, Miss Utter, Mrs. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Wales, Mr. and Mrs. Kleeberger and Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan.

Death Threats Received By Principals In Browning Case

Wild Parties Charged to "Peaches" and Mother By Defense

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—A wealthy man, and boy friends of "Peaches" Browning, will testify at the separation trial Monday that "Peaches" and her mother, Mrs. Carolyn Heenan, gave "wild parties" in their apartment, it was announced today by Francis C. Dale, chief of counsel for "Daddy" Browning.

These witnesses will charge that the principal pastime was "strip poker." Dale said, adding that "this wealthy man is traveling 2,000 miles to tell his story."

It was believed this man is the mystery witness who caused adjournment of the trial because he could not reach White Plains this week.

"We have witnesses who will testify that Mrs. Browning ran around the apartment at these parties with few clothes on," said Dale. "Peaches" testified at the trial that she was horrified when Browning made such a demand on their bridal night.

Dale also said that he has a "starting affidavit" from one of the youths who courted Browning, shortly before she met Browning. The affidavit relates an incident that occurred when the youth, "Peaches" and another girl were in "Peaches" apartment, the attorney said.

One of his principal witnesses has received several death threats over the telephone, Dale declared. "Daddy's" camp however has no corner on such threats. "Peaches" said today she received them daily and Justice Seeger, who is hearing the separation suit, announced today that he has received twenty-five letters from cranks.

Testimony at the Browning trial resulted today in the foster parents of Dorothy "Sunshine" adopted daughter of "Daddy" withdrawing their offer to take Dorothy into their home again.

Mrs. Anna St. John, of Rye, who permitted Browning to adopt Dorothy so she might have luxuries, said she was "shocked by the revelations" made at the trial and that her husband is much against having Dorothy. The St. Johns have adopted another girl, Billy, five; Dorothy is ten.

Kellogg Must Settle Dispute With Mexico, President Coolidge Decides

COOLIDGE IS ADAMANT ON MEXICO POLICY

Double Note of Policy Sounded by President In New Decision.

By JOHN T. LAMBERT
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—President Coolidge today definitely and finally rejected the suggestion that he and President Calles meet at El Paso or elsewhere on the Rio Grande in an effort to compose the serious differences between the two governments.

The President's decision struck a double note of policy. It showed that all negotiations and foreign relations between the United States and other countries shall be conducted through the secretary of state, not through volunteer diplomats or private agents like Colonel House.

It showed also that the President is resolved not to leave the boundaries of the United States while he is in office. The suggestion of a parley between the President and Calles was made by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, author of the resolution adopted by the senate urging the administration to arbitrate with Mexico.

President Coolidge, it was said officially, will follow the undeviating course of George Washington in conducting the foreign relations of the government through the official channels established by the constitution and by congress.

The President recalled that shortly after the formation of the government, Washington's prestige as a soldier and statesman led foreign governments to treat with him wherever possible.

Washington then referred all negotiations to the state department and President Coolidge intends to do likewise. It was said.

President Coolidge, it is understood, has not the slightest intention of accepting the suggestion for arbitration proposed by the Robinson resolution. He holds tenaciously to the conviction that Mexico has violated both its treaty with the United States and the age old customs of American "land and oil" properties without any assurance of compensating the owners. He believes that the Calles administration has repudiated a principle which is above arbitration.

Latin-American Policy Denied Approval Vote

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Democrats on the house foreign affairs committee today blocked action upon the Fairchild resolutions endorsing President Coolidge's Latin-American policy, by walking out of the meeting and thereby causing a lack of quorum.

The Democrats insisted that before the committee pass resolutions praising the president, Secretary of State Kellogg and others should be called to answer questions on that policy.

Charging that the Republican majority was attempting to "gag" the committee, Lathum, Democrat of Maryland, jumped up and walked out.

"In all the years I have been a member of this committee, I have never seen such 'gagging,' shouted Lathum as he left.

Reps. Moore of Virginia, McReynolds of Tennessee, Edwards of Georgia, and O'Connell of New York, then bolted the meeting.

They left Tom Connally of Texas behind to make the point of no quorum, so the action of the committee on the resolutions would be void.

However, Fairchild, Republican of New York, insisted that those present be put on record. The eight Republicans present voted for passage, while Connally cast the Democratic no.

The meeting was a constant wrangle from the beginning to the dramatic walk-out of the minority members.

"We seem to have abdicated all our prerogatives to the senate foreign relations committee," said Moore.

Valle, Republican of Colorado, said the committee had the President's message on his Latin-American policy, and that ought to be enough for them to form a judgment upon.

CAR WRECKED WHEN IT HITS PEDESTRIAN

"When a man bites a dog—that's news," runs an old newspaper bromide. And when a man very nearly wrecks an automobile by the sheer fact of his being a man of iron in a collision—that is a miracle.

But R. Soldabini, of Richmond, proved his bodily resistance to insignificant little things like touring cars last night when the aforesaid car struck him amidships as he left the Pullman shops.

John Schultz, 1709 Barrett avenue, shut his horror-stricken eyes, fearful of seeing a shapeless mass of human pulp between his wheels, when his car struck Soldabini with a resounding smash.

But the sounds emanating from the collision were of jingling glass and tortured steel. Soldabini had done what every pedestrian some day longs to do—he had put the car hors de combat with nothing more than a rigorous vitality to aid him.

The car sustained ophthalmia of the headlights and a severe fracture of the fender.

Soldabini is said to expect that a charge of battery will be lodged against him as soon as Schultz has recovered from nervous shock.

Glasgow Hardest Hit As Wind Rages at 92 Miles an Hour

PEACE IS OUR AIM

President Coolidge's statements on Mexican-Nicaraguan relations hit the country in the right spot and at the right time. We are a peaceful people but not pacifist, we are a just but not a truculent people. But the time had arrived when it was necessary to make clear that what we were demonstrating was fairness and not meekness.

There were some timid souls who began to pyramind an ultimatum on the message. There need be no fear of such a happening. Until the time the message was written to congress, there was a distinct possibility that our Mexican neighbor, unchecked might have passed from the stage of pin pricking to another so that an ultimatum might have become an absolute necessity for protection of American rights and property. The very firmness of the message has eliminated that possibility.

It is said that in elections in Scotland they very seldom have any scandals about great campaign expenditures.

Prime Minister Stresman says that if the League of Nations had been in existence in 1914 there would have been no World war. This is another one of those statements which it will be a little difficult to prove or disprove.

PECKSNIFFIAN RHEUMATISM

A friendly critic says that when one layman describes his illness to another layman or the doctor as a "cold" the other layman or the doctor generally knows what is meant. Likewise with "rheumatism."

I have met a good many doctors but I'd like to meet the one who knows what such a layman means.

So good a medical authority as Dr. W. G. MacCallum, of Johns Hopkins asserts that there is a distinct and well defined disease recognized by that name of rheumatism, and Dr. MacCallum does clearly and precisely define the disease he has in mind, so that we physicians understand what he is talking about, though this excellent medical teacher scarcely shares the layman's conception of the meaning of the term rheumatism.

A colleague of Dr. MacCallum's has written an instructive little book for lay readers, "Rheumatism: Its Meaning and Its Menace," and in this little volume, published by Appleton's, Dr. L. F. Barker explains how "rheumatism" for many decades was a shabby old omnibus trundling along with a load of nondescript diseases that could find transportation in no other pathological van, how William Osler, back in 1796, differentiated 24 varieties of chronic rheumatism, and Weissel in 1923, counted up 50 different conditions that have ridden on this indistinguishable bus!

But Dr. Barker knows what he is talking about, too, for he shows how from 80 to 95 percent of heart diseases in young people is caused by rheumatic fever, acute articular rheumatism, inflammatory rheumatism, acute infectious arthritis. Even this all too familiar illness of childhood and youth sometimes escapes recognition by the layman because the only manifestations by which a physician would be able to diagnose the illness, happen to be, a low fever, an increase in the number of white blood corpuscles and certain heart signs of which the patient and family are serene unaware. In other words, this type or variety of "rheumatism" may be quite painless and not affect the joints at all!

Neither of these two medical authorities nor any other contemporary authority teaches that exposure to cold, wet or weather is a factor in the causation of the diseases that still ride in the shabby old omnibus. Both MacCallum and Barker and all other modern medical authorities teach that acute articular rheumatism or rheumatic fever or whatever you may please to call it is an infection and that the germ or virus which causes it must enter the body and the blood through one or another gateway of portal of infection, such as diseased tonsils, diseased adenoids, throat or just a "sore throat."

It is for this reason, that is, the frequency of slight "sore throat" or slight adenoid inflammation or slight tonsillitis, as an introduction to such infection, that all good medical authorities teach that Every child or young adult who has an acute sore throat or even what purports to be just a "cold" in nose or throat with slight fever should immediately go to bed and remain in bed until his physician thinks it safe for him to get up and about.

So I think Dr. MacCallum put it mildly when he said that rheumatism is a distinct and well defined disease. It is anywhere from 34 to 80 more or less distinct and well defined diseases.

In ascertaining, as I do, that there is no such disease as rheumatism, I hope to incite people to drag off a few of the bold masqueraders that ride on Dr. Barker's omnibus, and investigate their pretensions.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Kindly send me the street address of Paul B. Hoebor, Inc., New York City. I wish to obtain a copy of "Recovery Record" for a friend who has tuberculosis. (Mrs. R. E. S.)

Answer—New York City is sufficient address for a publisher. I do not know what Mr. Hoebor's street number, favorite book, flower, actress or hobby is, nor whether he is a member of the right church, nor whether he believes the yodel about poisoning industrial alcohol should be sustained. All I know about him is that he published the "Recovery Record," a little dollar book containing about a thousand dollars' worth of wisdom for the patient, and he soaks the purchaser two berries per copy for it, about twice what it is worth intrinsically but only 0.2 percent of its value for one who means to win the battle.

Iodin, Iodine, Iodum and I Am Dan

Some time ago you stated the amount of Iodin to be taken in a glass of water for people who have gotter. You called it "Iodin, Iodine, Iodum." Will you please repeat the directions. (C.C.)

Answer—No. I mentioned the amount of Iodin which children should be given and which adults may take as a suitable Iodin ration for the prevention of gotter and other troubles due to Iodin deficiency. But I advised people with gotter, and I repeat the advice now, that they should not use Iodin in any way unless under the control of a physician. Iodin is best taken, I think, in the form of the tincture, commonly known as tincture of Iodin, and commonly used for the first aid disinfection of wounds. One drop of this tincture may be taken in a glassful of water once daily for a month in each of the four seasons of the year, by child or adult. Or one drop may be taken in a glassful or more of water once or twice a week throughout the year.

Cinnamon Habit

Kindly tell me if eating cinnamon bark will injure one's health. I am very fond of it and sometimes eat three ounces a week. If I run out of cinnamon I eat nutmeg. Why do I crave such things? I am 32, 67 inches tall and weigh 132 pounds, short of breath and have pains at times in the left side of my chest. (S. J. A.)

Answer—You probably like the mild general stimulation from the aromatics. No great harm in that, though the local irritation of the stomach and the irritation of the kidneys is undesirable. Cinnamon, nutmeg, peppermint, wintergreen, peppers, mustard, and various other medicines go to bed and remain in bed until his physician thinks it safe for him to get up and about.

So I think Dr. MacCallum put it mildly when he said that rheumatism is a distinct and well defined disease. It is anywhere from 34 to 80 more or less distinct and well defined diseases.

Dr. Dean will answer all signed letters pertaining to parents' problems with their boys and girls. Writers' names are never printed. Only questions of general interest answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if you enclose in ink and a stamp, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Address Arthur Dean, in care of this paper.

THE GUIDING HAND

"I have a boy," writes "Puzzled Mother," "who has just passed his tenth birthday. He has been questioning me closely for the past few months about the origin of life. I have evaded him although I know I was doing wrong when I did so. But he has seemed so young to be pursuing his brain over these matters, isn't he?"

"I am afraid the trouble is that he has associated somewhat with the older boys. There is a boy of seventeen who I am sure, talks to my ten-year-old about—well, what shall I call them—the facts of life? I have always taught my son that he could come to me for any kind of advice, and I have never failed him. (Oh, I wonder, Dr. Dean, if I am the only faint-hearted mother in the land) I just couldn't meet it. But I feel that I cannot tell him to go away and not talk to me about such things. I know that he is learning everything there is to know—and, in the wrong way. Last night he told me things that shocked me so I felt I could not put it off much longer and have come to you for help."

"Can you well believe, Puzzled Mother, that the young man has a bigger vocabulary on this matter than you have? I am glad to have your judgment to be his teacher yourself rather than have evil talking companions do the work for you in a most bungling fashion."

Only this morning I had a letter from a very earnest high school girl who wanted me to send some helpful material to her father. This is the way he put it: "I have heard a lot of this sort of thing from my school fellows and I have read about sex in the 'Outline of Knowledge.' Nine-tenths of the stuff is wrong and I want to know what father to give me the facts. I guess Mother and Dad are taking for granted that I know everything or nothing."

This whole question, my dear mother, is too big (and there is another reason too) to handle in a short space. I have never favored the idea of handing over any sex instruction books or pamphlets to any youth of any age, and I am sure you will agree with me. The subject which are both interesting and important to the young man and woman, who are young, are the subject of sex, and I suggest that you read the book I have checked on the enclosed list. It is a book which is younger, says around the age of five to seven, I should check the first book. For girls over the age of seven, I should check on my list books number four or five. When there is not a library and where the book is not available, I would suggest that you send a return stamped envelope to me for the "What, When and How," leaflet which will give you the complements of this newspaper.

Not Limited to Youth

My twelve-year-old boy does the chores around the house, but he has been so long in the habit of leaving to tell him every time about cutting the food, taking out the trash, watering the chickens, etc. For over two years he has been doing the same chores over and over again. I have never been able to tell him to do the things he is so slow and always forgets to do half of his work.

ANSWER—He may have a slow moving mind. He may have his mind on other things. He may be a little weak. There is one thing I should do:

Sit down and mark out with him on a ruled sheet of paper his daily program of chores. Talk them over with him. Let him write them out in the order of their importance and then assign only finally have him place these separate duties in a column and draw lines for the thirty-one days in the month, such as, "On each day, on the things he does and do them in the order written down. By this plan he cannot forget, he will save time, he will see what he has done and what he has not done. You have a report of his daily work, but he will be able to compare his own constantly a graphical representation of his accomplishments."

A boy of twelve is seldom a spice or aromatics are all similar in their general stimulation, carminative (aiding gas expulsion), irritant effects, and all irritants, the urinary tract more or less during their excretion.

INTELLIGENTIA DOMESTICA

His PLAY: The trouble with most married women seems to be that they are afraid to sleep out of character when in the intimate society of their husbands. I mean most women have a sneaking suspicion they are held in poor esteem as regards their intellectual capacities and they let it go at that. The truth is a man would rather find interest in the wife's perfect being and I have even known hired men who have forgotten to do all the chores. Only yesterday a plumber in my house forgot to close up a trap. Result—barrels of fallen plaster.

Viola, his wife, was there; the letter was in her hand.

"Are you looking for this?" she said. "I shall keep it."

"Viola—how—why?"

"Long distance talk—I took up the receiver to call a number, in my own room, not knowing you were using the telephone. And what I heard made me listen to the end. I shall take this letter to John Ballard."

"By God, you won't!"

He sprang forward as he spoke. But she was too quick and too clever for him. She freed herself from his lunging grasp; in a moment she was in the hall and at the front door. With a groan he recognized his defeat; saw what chastening an irremediable disaster this interference of Viola's spelled.

"I'm sorry, Phil," she said, gently. "I would do nothing to hurt you—nothing to help your enemies. But I heard the plot you and that man hatched. I cannot allow an innocent man to be stabbed in the back. Good bye."

CHAPTER XIV

Phil Hardin, reaching Plainville late the night before, for the first time, showing signs of fear. Himself utterly cast down and depressed, he was shocked to find that much of Jordan's confidence had evaporated since morning.

"What's gone wrong now?" he said.

"I've had word from your detective, chief," said Jordan. "Phil looks bad. He can get nothing out of him."

THE REFEREE: The lady, shrewd beyond her sex, wins.

Politeness for Beginners

WHAT'S WRONG HERE

Answer—Be not angry at the table. Put on a cheerful countenance, for good humor makes a crust of bread a feast, and vice versa. The low person who becomes wrathful at the festive board, makes all the rest of the boarders feel more or less "grouchy," and a state of affairs of this nature may lead to serious consequences, such as the departure of the cook, which is known as a Cook's Tour, or an abrupt rise in the price of over-shoes in Arabia.

SYNOPSIS

John Ballard rises from poverty to "I heard, by pure chance, the love of Viola, his wife, was there; the letter was in her hand."

He ate a solitary dinner; went back. Later, to Jordan's sitting room to join the dismal conference with the lawyers and suddenly, as he listened, an idea came to him.

"Look here," he said. "Do you people know anything of by within the holding company hasn't owned any N. Y. and C. V. R. stock for some years?"

"Exactly! Where are its books?" said Judge Gordon.

"They're in my private safe at home. But what good are they?"

"Get them at once!" said Jordan. "They can be doctored. It can be made to appear that the company actually owned a controlling interest during the whole time covered by Ballard's investigation."

"By God—you've saved us, with out knowing it!" cried Jordan.

"Not so fast—I'm not sure of that yet," said the lawyer. "But there's a chance, at least. I must have the books and the charter. All the other records I need are here. If that charter is really swamping—"

"It is. My father controlled the legislature absolutely in those days, and he got exactly what he wanted. It was when he first began buying up competing motor bus lines, and there was an attack on us for monopolizing traffic."

"It sounds good—it sounds better and better!" said Jordan. "I think I see a way. How soon can you get back here with those books?"

"I'll start at once and be back here before breakfast."

"Do that!"

"Why does he have to go himself?" asked Jordan. "He'll run his car into a ditch or something!"

"I'm the only one who knows how to open the safe," said Phil. "And look here, Jordan, I'm sick and tired of your sneers. You talk as if I were the one who'd made all this trouble!"

"You are!"

"You're a liar! You're the one who would never spend a cent on making the road safe to operate. I wanted to—I didn't want to see the property run down and smashed the way it has been. If you ask me you're a murderer or as good as a murderer. If I weren't mixed up with you the way I am I'd be glad to see you convicted and breaking rock in a striped suit!"

"Come—come," said Judge Gordon. "This is no time for quarrels among ourselves. We've got thanks to this idea of Hardin's, one chance to beat Ballard. Let's take it and settle any private disputes we may have afterward when we're out of the woods."

"That's good sense. I didn't mean to sneer," said Jordan. "Let's forget it. We're both under a strain and overworked. Shake hands, boys."

"All right," said Phil, still still. He held out his hand. "But I don't want to hear any more talk like that."

"Forget it," said Jordan again. "Pull yourself together, Phil. Better take someone to drive your car. You're too tired. That was all I meant. I was only thinking of you, old boy."

"Is that so? First time on record if you were I never knew you to think of anyone but yourself!"

"Well, well, I guess we'll do that most of the time," said Judge Gordon, soothingly. "Come along, Hardin."

Phil went out, truculently, and to the garage where he had left his car. But when he started to drive out a man leaped on the running board. He showed a metal badge.

"Sorry, Mr. Hardin," he said. "But my orders are that you're not to leave town."

"Who gave you those orders?" said Phil, startled. "Look here—get off my car! I'm not a prison guard!"

Was there nothing they could do?

MEIGHAN ADDS TO LAURELS IN 'THE CANADIAN'

Some months ago, when Thomas Meighan wrote that in the future he would only do dramatic stories with a strong punch, critics at up and took notice. Then came "The Gods" They stopped sitting long enough to applaud, because the "good luck star" had suddenly reappeared to the Meighan of "Man-killer" fame. The next news emanating from the studios was to the effect that he had chosen W. Somerset Maugham's play, "The Land of Promise," as his new vehicle.

It came to the California theatre last night as "The Canadian." To dispel all doubts, let it be distinctly understood that Meighan latest meets the high standard set by "Tin Gods." "The Canadian" is a sincere attempt to aspire not so much for "bigger" pictures as for "better" ones. And it is because of this that Director William Beaudine is to be congratulated. He has turned out a splendid production.

"The Canadian" captures the struggle of a group of wheat farmers in their eternal battle against the elements, combining it with a love affair between one of the ranchers and an aristocratic English woman, who, impoverished, comes to the land of promise to start life anew.

Mona Palma, Wyndham Standing, Dale Fuller and Charles Winger head the cast. Arthur Stringer, well known novelist, adapted Maugham's play for Paramount. J. Clarkson Miller prepared the scenario.

Other features on the same program include "War Feathers," an our Gang comedy, a Hy Mayer cartoon, International News and Larry Canelo at the organ.

Fire Hazards To Be Eliminated In El Cerrito

Inspections for the elimination of fire hazards in the city of El Cerrito have been started by Fire Chief W. A. Hinds and Electrical Inspector Casey Carling. The electrical inspector was instructed by the board of trustees to assist Hinds, due to the great fire hazards in defective wiring.

The inspection will take in all of the business buildings and residences and suggestions will be made by the inspectors to the owners of the property. The ordinance permits the city officers to eliminate the hazards in cases where the property owners fail to do so within a limited time.

The ordinance was suggested by the board of fire underwriters several months ago, and was passed by the trustees, but the authorization for the inspections was not made until Monday night. The elimination of fire hazards will be claimed, further reduce the insurance rates in the city which were recently reduced considerably.

College Suicides Not Alarming Says Famous Professor

(By Universal Service) BERKELEY, Calif., Jan. 28. Suicide by six eastern college students in the past few days must not be taken as an indication of general morbidity, of thought among the nation's students, Dr. Virgil Dickson of the University of California and famous child psychologist, today declared.

"There is no reason for alarm and there is no reason," the savant said, "to feel that there is any larger proportion of College students taking their own lives than there are suicides in any other walks of life."

"The college student differs in no way emotionally from people in other walks of life. The person who takes his own life usually has met with some difficulty which discourages him to the point that he would rather die than face it."

"There is no reason why the college student should not be faced with difficulties that appear insurmountable. They are difficulties similar to those met by the tired and worn out business man who takes his life."

LITTLE CLUSTERS OF CURLS, LOW ACROSS THE BACK OF THE HEAD

Early Days Of State Recalled By Richmond Film

Ken Maynard galloped onto the screen of the Richmond theatre last night in a brisk, punchy picture called "The Unknown Cavalier," and immediately all our old distaste for Westerners trotted down the long lane of forgotten and forgotten prejudices.

The new star of the West is not only one of the best stunt riders that ever wore chaps (Ringling Brothers made him their star broncho buster in the circus days before the war) but he is a finished actor as well.

Ken couldn't decide whether the highlight of the show was when Ken was riding four horses at once, beating up a bunch of bandits, or simply standing still, tied to a tree in scorching desert, giving one of the most polished bits of pantomime screened in months.

The whole show is a knockout. It made us realize that a cowboy picture can be as interesting, as the biggest special or the most sophisticated screen plays. Kathleen Collins, David Torrence, Otis Harlan and James Mason head the excellent supporting cast.

First National has found some really new blood for the movies and Ken Maynard's dramatic dash-darries on horseback will set your own blood tingling whether you're sixty or six—especially if you're sixteen.

Other film features on the same program include "Life Forgot, to Remember," a Clyde Cook comedy, and a "Mutt and Jeff" cartoon.

Autoist Wrecks Tenth Street Sign

An automobile driven by J. L. Sullivan collided with the Richmond-San Rafael ferry sign at Tenth street and Cutting boulevard Thursday night, wrecking the entire right side of the car, and knocking over the sign.

Neither Sullivan nor Emmett McLaughlin, who was with him at the time, was injured. The heavy rain was held responsible for the accident according to a report made by Sullivan.

Inquest Held In McLean Drowning

An inquest conducted yesterday by Mrs. Gertrude E. Klotz, coroner, in Vallejo into the death of Robert H. McLean, veteran of the World War, who was drowned at the Roden-Vallejo ferry slip several weeks ago, resulted in a verdict of "death caused by drowning from a fall into the bay from the ferry boat 'Issaquah' in a way unknown to the jury."

McLean was 33 years of age, and had been a resident of Richmond for some time. At the time of the accident he boarded the 'Issaquah' with friends traveling from Napa to the lower bay district. He is said to have jumped from the bow of the boat; his body was not located until two days later.

Curls And Other Coquetries Mark Return To Femininity

AN interesting motif running through some of the newest coiffures is that of the high dressed forelock, which is waved to stand a little above the rest of the hair, then either falling forward on the forehead or back, fat the front-side, over the other straight hair. The waves are set fairly close together, and in one arrangement the very ends of the forelock are curled up into a tight little sausage roll effect. These tight little rolls appear frequently too at the sides of the hair from front to back, for instance; or low across the back of the head.

Another reason for the intricacies of curling that are creeping into the mode is the return of feminine fashion. The gay coquettishness of curls is but a simple manifestation.

The stern, almost male resignation to gray or graying hair is passing too. A new scientific hair tint which colors the inner fibres of the hair perhaps accounts for this. And in the flowing lines of gowns, in exquisite fabrics, ornate jewelry, decorative flowers, is seen likewise the trend back to femininity.

How sharply these contrast with the severity of lines and material that were so frequently and so excellently complemented only a season ago by the uncompromisingly plain masculine hair cut.

M'FARLAND IS EXPECTED TO PLEAD GUILTY

James Edgar McFarland, charged with participation in the robbery of the Mechanics Bank of Richmond, of $16,000, November 23 last, is being returned here to face trial according to a telegram received by Sheriff R. R. Veale yesterday from Undersheriff William Veale in Ogdensburg, N. Y.

McFarland at the last reports had steadfastly refused to admit being with Hix Anderson, now in San Quentin, when the crime was committed. He was arrested in Denver several weeks ago, on a run-running charge, and was identified by the Portland police as being one of the men wanted for the robbery in Richmond.

It was expected that he would fight extradition from Colorado, but Veale's telegram indicates that the bandit has admitted participation in the robbery. He claims however that the $8000 which was his part of the loot was stolen from him in Oakland, and that the large sums of money found on his person when he was arrested were obtained from race track speculation.

It was believed here yesterday that the bandit would plead guilty, when brought face to face with the confession of his accomplice, Hix Anderson, that McFarland was one of the duo that robbed the bank. Anderson had approximately $8000 in his possession when he was taken into custody 12 hours after the crime had been committed. He stated that McFarland had the remainder.

Hilton further stated that the membership of Yosemite post was greater at this time than ever before in the history of the organization, due, in a measure no doubt, to the increased interest taken in community affairs by the ex-service men of Mariposa county.

Taylor stated that the entire building was enclosed and from this time on a heavy snowfall would not delay the completion of the hatchery for use in the spring.

Yosemite To Have Fish Hatchery

YOSEMITE, Jan. 28.—Satisfactory progress is being made in the erection of a $35,000 state fish hatchery at Happy Isles in Yosemite Valley, according to Resident Engineer O. G. Taylor who returned to his duties here today after a protracted illness resulting from typhoid fever.

The building was enclosed and from this time on a heavy snowfall would not delay the completion of the hatchery for use in the spring.

Veterans Using Purchase Act To Full Advantage

YOSEMITE, Jan. 28.—The recent passage of the California veterans farm and home purchase bonds, amounting to $20,000,000, has served to stimulate the interest of the world war veteran to his rights under the existing beneficial legislation. This is the opinion of Elton M. Hilton, adjutant of Yosemite Post No. 258, California department of the American Legion.

He said today, "We are now receiving many inquiries from ex-service men throughout Mariposa county relative to the benefits to be derived by them under the Veterans' Purchase act. This interest, manifest in home building and farm buying by the veterans appears to be coupled with a greater interest in community welfare. Being the only post in Mariposa county, with our members widely scattered, gives Yosemite post an opportunity to carry on a comprehensive program of community building that has been aided materially since the passage of the farm and home purchase bonds in November."

Hilton further stated that the membership of Yosemite post was greater at this time than ever before in the history of the organization, due, in a measure no doubt, to the increased interest taken in community affairs by the ex-service men of Mariposa county.

Taylor stated that the entire building was enclosed and from this time on a heavy snowfall would not delay the completion of the hatchery for use in the spring.

COOLIDGE TELLS AMERICANS TO STAY IN CHINA

(continued from Page 1.) sequence. It also came close upon the resolution in the house advocating that the United States play a lone hand in China.

The President made it plain that the United States will protect its citizens in China at all costs and will co-operate with the British in doing so.

There was nothing antagonistic in the President's attitude, his spokesman said. He is anxious to see China independent. The United States is willing to surrender any preferential treaties that now exist.

The President would like to see all Americans leave, it was pointed out.

But it was re-emphasized that this government will not ask them to do so, that their interests and lives will be protected and that Americans should have the same rights to make their homes and do business in China as they have in any other nation.

The White House pointed to pictures recently published in newspapers showing the destruction of British property in Hankow. The President, it was said, could see no reason why this should be tolerated, or happen to Americans.

Wholly in sympathy with the Chinese aspirations for complete autonomy and willing to meet them more than half way insofar as the surrender of American rights is concerned, the President is represented as seeing no reason why Americans should be massacred as a means to that end.

It was made plain that the United States naval forces now in Shanghai harbor would endeavor to forestall what had taken place in Hankow. In doing this the American naval forces will act in concert with the British, it was stated.

Aside from this, the White House said that the President could see nothing but chaos ahead of China if all foreigners and their interests are expelled. It was pointed out that China has a large import and export trade and would be the greatest sufferer if the proverbial "open door" is closed. Aside from doing immeasurable harm to China it would destroy any number of foreign businesses which have been built up through the years, it was stated.

PAINTER WINS LONG BATTLE ON PATENT RIGHT

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—Blake Hopkins, San Francisco painter, won his long fight today to establish his patent rights to a paint spray gun, when Federal Judge F. H. Kerrigan granted Hopkins' motion to restrain the Ford Motor Car Company from continuing their use of his patent.

A master in chancery will now be called upon to decide the amount of damages Hopkins is entitled to from the Ford Company and several other large concerns who have used his paint gun. It was said Hopkins' claims against the various defendants will total a million dollars or more.

Economist Cites Nation's Farmers For Contributions To Allied Cause And Hungry Nationals Of Europe

Napoleon insisted that "Armies crawl to victory on their stomachs."
(or was it their bellies?)

What the great warrior meant was that an army can be relied upon to reach the peak of fighting efficiency only if adequately fed.

And this leads to the discussion of a new book which recently made its appearance and has impressed economists because it deals with a phase of the world war not hitherto touched upon by historians—the contribution of the American and Canadian farmer to the successful prosecution of the conflict.

"American Pork Production in the World War" is the unromantic title of a volume by Frank M. Surface (A. W. Shaw Co., Chicago) in which this authority, an economist, sets forth in entertaining fashion the inside story of the important part this food product and its producers played in the war.

The recital of Dr. Surface's story begins with the Spring of 1917, when the allied government appealed to the newly-created United States Food Administration for an increase of the supply of fats available to them from American sources.
They had been buying grains and the market had been exceedingly active, but as their people were in great need of fats the justice of their plea was recognized by the officials of the United States government.

The farmers, however, were not so easily convinced. They were getting good prices for their grain and, unless they could be satisfied that the hog and its products would not develop losses, they were loathe to undertake the production. Herbert Hoover, representing the Food Administration promised them that so far as the control of the government, neutral and allied buying of pork would permit, he would attempt to keep the market price of hogs in a definite relation to the price of corn.

The experience the farmers had after accepting this assurance is recounted by the author of this recount in an entertaining manner. He tells of the anxiety and discouragement caused the Food Administration by breakdown of rail shipping facilities, unreasonable marketing and the lack of allied ships to carry the carcasses, and of the earnestness of the farmer in continuing his production at top speed.

Then came the Armistice, and with it the threat that the market would collapse. The allies forgot the assurances they had given to purchase the output of the American farmer, and indicated that they intended to turn to the Southern Homestead now that the submarine and other naval threat was removed, where they counted upon much lower prices and increased supply. To this the United States Food Administration promptly responded, maintaining a relaxation of the blockade against Germany. Thus markets were created, immense shipments were begun, prices were maintained and the American farmer enjoyed the profits of his labor.

Dr. Surface makes the definite statement that this availability of American food in Europe undoubtedly staved off a disastrous famine and, unquestionably prevented the spread of anarchy and bolshevism.
Thus American farmers not only contributed to the winning of the war, but were powerful factors in the restoration of war-torn territory.

Mokelumne Project Story Is To Be Taken To South Africa By Engineers Visiting Here

The story of the Mokelumne project is to be carried to South Africa as a result of the visit of two engineers employed by the South Africa Government and sent to America to study all kinds of engineering projects.

The two visitors were taken over the entire Mokelumne project by James Munn, Construction Engineer for the Mokelumne project.
It was announced yesterday by Arthur P. Davis, Chief Engineer and General Manager of the East Bay
Municipal Utility District. Munn escorted the men over the aqueduct line and tunnels and also explained to them how the work is being carried on beyond the San Joaquin river. They visited the site of the Loncha Plana dam and tunnel.

According to the two visiting engineers, South Africa contemplating starting many important engineering projects in the near future, some dealing with irrigation and domestic water supplies; and the Government desired all the available information on what America is doing along these lines. The men have toured the East and have visited Los Angeles. They came to Oakland on their way to the northwest.

According to Davis, the two visitors found the Mokelumne water project well under way.

"We have been going steadily ahead with our construction program and the situation is satisfying," said Davis. "Construc-

The project west of San Joaquin River is well under way and the contracts will probably be completed on schedule time April 15.

Plans are proceeding for the construction of local reservoirs for storage. The Lafayette Reservoir on the Contra Costa side of the hills and the Sequoia and Rockridge Reservoirs, small ones within the city of Oakland, will probably be started this year. All three are considered parts of the Mokelumne water project, and will be parts of the distribution system.

The flames were first noticed by Police Sergeant C. S. Mahoney and Patrolman R. A. Cox who called for the fire department.

As there is no roadway within one hundred yards of the house the heavy fire trucks became mired in the mud.

SOLOMON TRYS TO IMPEACH JUDGE IN DRY SCANDAL

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Extreme dries, anxious to head off impeachment proceedings against Federal Judge Frank Cooper, northern New York district, were reluctant to refer to the judicial committee impeachment charges made by Rep. La Guardia, Republican of New York.

Rising to a question of the highest privilege, La Guardia charged Judge Cooper with violation of his oath of office by alleged connivance in having federal dry agents buy, sell and transport liquor to trap bootleggers along the Canadian border.

La Guardia's impeachment charges were based mainly upon the treasury report on "under cover" activities, submitted to the senate in response to the resolution of Senator Reed, Democrat of Missouri.

Included in the report was a statement by R. Q. Merrick, former prohibition agent, that Judge Cooper sanctioned the plan of putting government agents into the bootleg liquor traffic.

Reps. Cramton, Republican of Michigan, Blanton, Democrat of Texas, and others resorted to every parliamentary device to squell the La Guardia proceedings by keeping it away from the judiciary committee.

Ultra-dries banked upon the tremendous preponderance of dry votes in the house in their effort to create a situation where the house itself would vote upon the merits of La Guardia's charges.

When Reps. Tilson of Connecticut, Republican floor leader, and Snell of New York, chairman of the rules committee, showed their disposition to side with La Guardia in having the matter referred to the judiciary committee, ultra-dries abandoned the fight, and the issue was referred by overwel-ming voice vote.

Crampton, Blanton and other dries took exception to the form in which La Guardia presented his case. They frequently interrupted him with a demand that he co-fine his statements to the matter pending. In this Tilson and Snell also joined.

Crampton raised a point of no quorum, necessitating a count.
Speaker Longworth found enough present to proceed. La Guardia shouted that he would insist upon his rights and not let other mem-

CLUB SINGING IS ENJOYED BY ROTARY CLUB

The Richmond Rotary club enjoyed an unusual program on the occasion of their meeting yesterday. Under the direction of Prof.
L. B. McWood of Dartmouth college club singing was the feature of the entertainment. McWood is widely known throughout the east for his activities along this line. He is at the University of California reorganizing the university glee club this year.

Dr. C. L. Abbot was chairman of the day, and announced Rev. Harold Collins and Irving Ashcraft as new members of the fellowship committee. Father Collins was also placed on the Boys' work committee. Both are recent additions to the rotary club.

Lyman Hanna, Standard Oil official in Bakersfield, was guest for the occasion.

A total of $85 in fines was collected for violations of the traffic laws when five motorists appeared before Police Judge C. A. Odel yesterday. Those assessed were:

F. Vedder, San Francisco, $10, passing on the wrong side; F. M.
Tauscher, Richmond Annex, $35 and license suspended for 30 days, speeding; L. W. Gardner, Oakland, $10, passing on wrong side; R. Men-dosa, Richmond $25, "speeding." J.
Banducci, Richmond, $2, faulty tail light.

bers block his speech or attempt to cloud the issue.

"Judge Cooper should be impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors," declared La Guardia.
La Guardia charged that Judge Cooper conspired with Merrick to purchase or sell liquor unlawfully to one Robert C. Hayes and Rosario Defranzo, who were "enticed or entrapped into the buying or selling of liquor by the agents."

Others named by La Guardia as having dealt with "government bootleggers" were Albion Lafoutin,
Harry C. Hartson and Barney
Duker.

Stoddard Divorce Action Is Filed

Alleging that the life of his wife for the last eight months has been a succession of "sweethearts, love letters, and late hours," Fay Stoddard of Richmond filed suit for divorce from his wife, Mrs. Grace Stoddard, yesterday in Martinez.

Stoddard asks custody of their three-year-old daughter. He charges that his wife's extravagance has been such that he was unable to meet it, and that Mrs.
Stoddard was too fond of clothes, dances and parties.

The couple married in 1922, and separated December 15, last. Stodson as counsel.

CRANK LETTERS THREATEN LIFE OF LITA GREY

(By Universal Service)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 28.—Lita
Grey Chaplin, estranged wife of Charlie Chaplin, has received a number of "crank letters" threatening her life unless she drops her divorce suit against the comedian, it was announced today.

Mrs. Chaplin may ask for police protection for herself and babies, according to her attorney.

Attorneys for Chaplin had on file today a demurrer to Mrs.
Chaplin's divorce bill, also a motion asking that portions of the complaint be stricken out. The action was taken in behalf of the Chaplin Studio, Inc. The portions of the complaint which the attorneys wish to eliminate bear upon the financial phases of the comedian's affairs.

Tomorrow Lloyd Wright, Chaplin's personal attorney, is scheduled to appear in Judge Walter Guerin's court and give a deposition. It is expected that Wright will be questioned concerning Chaplin's activities.

McTIGUE WINS FROM BERLENBACH IN THIRD ROUND

FORMER CHAMP GETS BACK HIS PRESTIGE PLUS

Berlenbach Is Unable to Cope With Wild Irish Fighter in Fast Go

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—It was a long wait between drinks. But Mike McTigue is finally even with Paul Berlenbach, the man who took away his light heavyweight championship in May of 1925.

Before 17,700 pop-eyed spectators, the rejuvenated Irish light-heavyweight, once a safety first boxer, became a wild killer at Berlenbach's expense. He achieved the remarkable feat of knocking out Berlenbach twice in the same fight at the Garden tonight.

Unfortunately for McTigue, Berlenbach has transferred the title which Mike loved so well in the meantime and Mike won nothing but a decision. That and a lot of prestige and the promise of a fight with Jack Sharkey late in the month of February.

The end came in the fourth round after Mike had floored Berlenbach in the most vicious of reverses. Berlenbach was out on his feet unable to stand up when referee Kid McPartland stepped in and ended hostilities. At the time McPartland interfered, Berlenbach was floundering like a clubbed cow trying to hold himself up with a death clutch around McTigue's knees.

The round had only twenty-five seconds to go.

Under boxing law McTigue was entitled to the decision just before the bell sounded to end the third round. The Irishman stunned Berlenbach with rights to the chin and one particularly vicious one sent Paul to the floor. He came up at the count of one then thought better of it and skipped back to one knee.

Under the rules Berlenbach should have been disqualified for going down without being hit.

Jimmy Johnston, manager of McTigue, angrily demanded that McPartland raise McTigue's hand. After a conference with the timekeeper, McPartland decided that the round had ended before Berlenbach had committed his illegal act.

Johnston pranced up and down the ring appealing to everyone in sight. The bell sounding for the fourth round ended his ebullience.

Wild with the taste of his neat knockout, McTigue swung into action like the old Dempsey in the fourth. Viciously, powerfully, he poured right hand punches off Berlenbach's unprotected chin. Paul was still groggy from the previous rounds. Three times Berlenbach fell. He was in a state of coma the entire round. The fight was all McTigue's.

100 Men Sign Up For U. C. Baseball

BERKELEY, Jan. 28.—Over one hundred men signed up with Coach Carl Zamlock at a general varsity and freshman baseball rally held at the University of California.

At the meeting, both Zamlock and Burt King, freshman coach, spoke on the necessity of a large squad and constant practice for the heavy schedule that is slated for the team this season.

Due to the formation of the California College Baseball association which includes California, U. S. C., Stanford, St. Mary's and Santa Clara, it is expected that the 1927 season will be one of the biggest in the history of the Bear Tossers. Three games must be played with each college making approximately thirty-one games played by this strictly non-professional circuit.

On the list of men who signed up with the varsity are three men of the 1927 football team; Richard Blewett, star quarterback, has signed up for first base; Harold Breakenridge, first string half, will play short and second; while Captain Paul Perlin will work out behind the home plate.

FRENCH LEAVES POSITION AT THE PERES SCHOOL

Principal of the Peres School for two and one-half years, F. S. French has given up his position in the school department and left yesterday to assume a position in one of the San Francisco Polytechnic and Commercial high schools.

French was the only man teacher in the elementary grades while at Peres, and was frequently honored for his efficiency in Americanization work. He was given a farewell luncheon by the teachers of Peres at the Wesleyan Methodist Church parlors yesterday.

The faculty of the school presented him with a handsome gift, and he spoke in appreciation of the cooperation given him at all times by the teachers. Short talks were given by Superintendent W. F. Helms, Assistant Superintendent Miss Nora Ashford, and Supervisor Miss C. Cantrell.

The dinner was served by circle number 5 of the church aid. Miss Clara Hartnett presided.

French's position as principal will be assumed by Miss Prestidge, member of the Stage school faculty. Miss Elsie Helms, graduate of the state teachers college will teach at Stage.

A luncheon was given at Stage yesterday afternoon by Miss Prestidge, and the new Peres principal was entertained at the farewell dinner for French.

Gum King Rewards Brave Catalina Mermaids

"It gives me great pleasure." That's probably what William Wrigley, sponsor of the Catalina channel swim, is saying as he hands out $2,500 checks to Margaret Hauser (left) and Martha Stager (right). And if Mr. Wrigley finds it a happy occasion, his pleasure is nothing to that of the fair recipients. Consolation prizes were given in appreciation of their valiant efforts, although neither was able to complete hard grind.

SOPHOMORE, SENIOR CAGERS BEAT VISITORS

The Senior and Sophomore girls' basketball squads of the Richmond union high school proved superior to the Crockett high school girls' groups yesterday at the high school gymnasium. The senior girls won by a score of 14 to 5 in a fast game and the Sophomores ran over the up-county girls by a score of 23 to 11.

Both games proved interesting but the local squad proved far superior to the Crockett aggregations.

Two more games are on tap. Miss Clara MacLaurin, coach of the squad announced yesterday. On February 9 the local team will play the Tumalo girls there and on February 18 they will meet the Marin Junior college here.

MAGGIE'S YIDDISH MOE

Knicker Vogue Seen In Yosemite Sports

YOSEMITE, Jan. 28.—Skirtless women are now an accepted custom here. This is the season when knicker fashions prevail, with thanks offered by the fair sex for the privilege. As explained by a young lady visitor:

"In this snow-covered winter sport-land, women can derive double pleasure from skiing, tobogganing, and snowshoeing if not hampered by a dress. Give me a bright colored stocking cap, warm white sweater, woolly gloves, tweed knickers, knitted socks, and heavy boots—also a powder puff, and a handful of snow. Then watch me swing into action!"

Most women visitors appear to relish the chance to wear knickers, with the trip to Yosemite in winter affording the opportunity. Now, ladies, make your choice!

LOCAL DOG TO INVADE MOVIES AT HOLLYWOOD

Movieland will shortly have a new dog star if the plans of William Willett of the Richmond fire department mature. He intends to invade the southland about February 15 to obtain movie contracts for his famous police dog "Midnight." It was announced yesterday by E. H. Howard, Midnight's manager.

Midnight is only seven-months old and is able to perform more than 40 difficult tricks. Several motion picture companies have already bid for the pup's appearance in films.

Warren Millais, President of a movie company in Los Angeles, has invited Howard to a conference next month. He stated that in his opinion Midnight would find no difficulty in finding starring vehicles.

W. T. Gibbons had charge of the session.

Objective Type Of Examinations To Be Tried Here

The "objective" type of examination for the students of the Richmond Union High school and the Roosevelt Junior high schools was the subject of the discussion at a recent meeting of the faculty of the two schools.

City Superintendent of Schools, Walter T. Helms, stated that the old form of examining students is considered obsolete and the "objective" type is coming into general practice throughout the state. Courses in the new system will be given by the University of California and study will be conducted in the faculty of the Richmond Union High School.

Arthur Shipley of the local Union High School has been selected as leader of the course.

OAKLAND MAN IS HELD ON BIGAMY COUNT

Leroy A. Lechner, 28, former Oakland resident, is in the county jail in Martinez charged with bigamy, following disclosures of his first wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Lechner, whom he married in San Jose, September 8, 1918.

Mrs. Lechner charges that her husband married Edna Morrow, 18 year old Walnut Creek girl, August 21, 1926, and that since that time he has been imposing on the girl by representing his first wife as his sister.

Lechner was arrested in Sacramento Thursday night by Deputy Sheriff J. W. Smiley and Clyde Laird. According to authorities, Lechner met Edna Morrow in the Oakland office of the Magnavox company where both were employed. In May, 1926, the first Mrs. Lechner went into a peninsula home as a domestic, seeing her husband only on week ends. Lechner has been living with his second wife in Sacramento since that time.

Lord Gladstone Branded Sex Hypocrite By Captain In Suit Against Son Of Late Premier

By ROBERT J. PREW
(By Universal Service)

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Peers, politicians and society leaders crowded into Judge Avory's court today to hear the continuation of Captain Peter E. Wright's suit for libel against Lord Gladstone who called Wright a liar, coward and fool because Wright had said that Gladstone's father, the former Prime Minister, was a hypocrite in matters of sex.

Lord and Lady Gladstone sat together in court today and Mr. Wright's counsel, Mr. Birkett, continued questioning. "When Dr. Gresham told you about Gladstone having made overtures to his women patients you assumed it was true?"

"Yes."

"What class of practice had he?"

"A high class one, particularly among hotels of the kind that have almost ceased to exist—the morning instead of dancing in the evening."

"Walter Morrison is dead?"

"Yes, he casually mentioned that Olga Novikoff was Gladstone's mistress."

"Do you know that Lord Gladstone, Lord Phillimore and plenty of living people knew Mme. Novikoff?"

"I don't."

"Detectives Watched Gladstone—Do you say that Lord Gladstone told you the story about detectives being appointed to watch over Mr. Gladstone?"

"Yes, he told me how they had to watch outside Mme. Novikoff's house until early morning and then attend divine services! He wasn't the only person who told me that story."

"Would you be surprised that Lord Malmesbury never heard the story until his case came up?"

"I remember him imitating the cockney accent of the detectives."

"I understand your suggestion is that Gladstone altered the policy of this country towards Turkey as a result of his relations with Mme. Novikoff?"

"I will go further. I will show you that was the opinion of Lord Granville, one of Gladstone's closest friends."

"Do you know every letter Mme. Novikoff wrote to Gladstone is now in this court?"

"No."

"Would such correspondence be of importance as showing the relations between two people?"

"Not in matters of sex where Gladstone was concerned. You wouldn't expect to find any trace of their relations in letters."

"You say she was a lovely Russian. Haven't you heard that physically she was most unattractive?"

"No, I never have."

"Do you know that Lord Gladstone dined at Mme. Novikoff's house and could speak of his father's relations with Mme. Novikoff?"

"Oh, he's an arch humbug who doesn't speak the truth."

Referring to the relations of Kitty O'Shea and Parnell, Birkett asked:

"You suggest that Gladstone connived the illicit relationship between Mrs. O'Shea and Parnell?"

"Why, of course."

"If Lord Gladstone states that his father knew nothing of their relations, what would you say?"

"I should say it was a typical instance of the Gladstonian Humbug."

A drawing by Phil May of an old man in evening dress carrying a bouquet near a stage door was produced in court and Wright said it was his idea of Gladstone's amorous air adding: "In his old age he was like that."

Introducing Laura Bell, Birkett produced her marriage certificate showing she was married in 1852 when a minor and asked:

"Do you know Laura Bell lived with her husband until he died?"

"Until he killed himself, poor chap," answered Wright.

"Do you know he left all his money, about $350,000 to his wife?"

"I don't know that. I do know she ran through a lot of money."

"She lived with him until 1888, don't you think that is important?"

"It is remarkable for a court-tesan to live with her husband. At the same time I didn't know Laura was so clever."

"Gladstone interested himself in her from a religious point of view?"

"Yes, from both points of view—religious and sexual. That's what makes it so very funny. She combined preaching with being a courtesan. She preached where she was allowed to preach, but there were a great many places where she was not allowed to preach."

Reverting to Wright's accusations as a whole, Birkett asked:

"Do you think it is cowardice to slander a dead man?"

"All history is a register of crimes and nearly all history is slander on dead men. History cannot be abolished for the benefit of Lord Gladstone."

Replying to another question Wright said:

"I have heard lots about Gladstone's reclamation of fallen girls but don't ask me what I know."

He was still on the stand when the case adjourned until Tuesday.

SEND ROPE TO JURY IS LAST WISH OF SLAYER

(By Universal Service)

FOLSOM, Calif., Jan. 28 Death held no terror for Ray Arnold, Sacramento automobile salesman, hanged at Folsom prison here this morning.

Arnold smiled as two guards escorted him up the thirteen steps to the scaffold then—

"Gentlemen, I am innocent," Arnold proclaimed in a voice void of emotion.

"My last request is that the warden cut the rope with which I am hanged into thirteen pieces and send one to each of the twelve jurors who convicted me and the thirteenth to the judge who sentenced me to die."

The trap was sprung at 10:06. Arnold was pronounced dead 13 minutes and 46 seconds later.

Arnold left a note addressed to Governor Young. It is understood to be a plea for Edward K. Sawyer, Denver youth, sentenced to hang here Friday next. Arnold and Sawyer were convicted of killing a Japanese woman in a holdup at Fenwick two years ago.

Both Arnold and Sawyer claimed innocence of the killing and asserted that Arthur Muller, who committed suicide when he faced arrest in San Francisco following the murder, was the actual slayer.

Hercules Site Not Favored For Navy Munitions Depot

Establishment of a naval ammunition depot at Hercules where the Du Pont interests have a 2800-acre reservation and a large explosive manufacturing plant, will not be considered by the Navy Department, according to dispatches from Washington.

The nearness of the plant to population centers and railway lines make it impossible, the navy chiefs have informed congress. The navy wants a depot in Nevada, to store the twelve million tons of TNT now in various naval stations on the Pacific coast.

It is reported that the largest depot at Mare Island is a menace to the surrounding population.

Trio Confesses To Twenty Burglaries

Stating that they "wanted to get it over with" as soon as possible, Roscoe Eads, 31, ex-Oakland policeman, John Watson, 18 year old, stepson, and Everett A. McGinnis, 25, entered pleas of guilty to burglary charges in Contra Costa and Alameda counties, in Judge H. V. Alvarado's court yesterday.

The trio confessed to twenty burglaries worth of loot was recovered from Eads' home in Sausalito. Eads pled guilty to three counts of burglary, and Watson and McGinnis confessed guilt on four counts.

McGinnis asked for immediate sentence and was given a term of from five years to life. Both Eads and Watson asked for a stay in sentence until they could arrange personal matters. McGinnis was taken to San Quentin yesterday.

The trio were apprehended when H. J. Mohr, Pacheco rancher discovered McGinnis burglarizing his chicken house. Mohr's brother secured the license number of Eads' machine which was parked a mile away. Deputies of R. R. Veale went to the home to arrest McGinnis and discovered the loot which had been taken from numerous houses in the east bay.
